

by William Shakespeare
Be not afraid of greatness.

The Seeing Place Theater, known for intense and intimate ensemble work, presents a modern staging of Shakespeare's classic comedy. This simple, clear and high-pitched production focuses on the human behavior that drives the punch-drunk, love-struck madness.

Opening Night is Wednesday March 30th, 2011 at 8pm.

There will be a wine and cheese press reception after the performance.

Performances run March 30 – April 16, 2011.
Wednesday – Saturday at 8pm. Saturday Matinees at 2pm.

The Seeing Place @ ATA's Sargent Theater
314 West 54th Street, 4th Floor. NYC.

$18 General Admission, $15 Students & Seniors.
www.smarttix.com 212-868-4444

Ensemble

David Arthur Bachrach, Michael Clay, Erin Cronican, Jorge Hoyos, Michael Jefferson, Ben Leasure, Ned Lynch, Nathan Ramos, David Sedgwick, Anna Marie Sell, Lindsay Teed, and Brandon Walker.

www.seeingplacetheater.com